Eight Wines that are Tasty and Under $20

Gabe Sasso

I don't know about you, but for me $20 is a very specific threshold when it comes to wine purchases. I fully believe that wine of any price point can provide value relative to its quality. But there's something really sweet about finding wines for less than $20 that I enjoy drinking and want to recommend.

Here are eight wines that I've had recently which meet that criteria. All of them delicious, well made, and under $20. Most of them are meant for consumption in the next year or so, a few will drink well over the next 5 years.

Mandrarossa 2017 Frappato 2017 ($17.99)

Frappato is native to Sicily where it thrives. When handled appropriately the results are fruit driven, light bodied wines. For me they bring to mind Villages tier Gamay. Red and black, berry aromas are dominant. The flavors lean towards tart red fruit tinged by wisps of purple fruit. Solid finish and mouthwatering acid make this straightforward wine hard to put down. Pair this with a charcuterie plate for excellent results.
